

Greenway Serves as Strategic Advisor in Cannon Design's Acquisition of Bennett Wagner Grody

Greenway Group Partner and head of finance and M&A, David Henry, served as strategic advisor for the acquisition of Denver based A&D firm, Bennett Wagner Grody Architects by Cannon Design.

"This new partnership energizes our firm with Bennett Wagner Grody Architects' solid reputation in higher education, prek-12 and healthcare markets, strengthened by their focus on student housing, libraries, interior design and civic work," said CannonDesign's CEO Brad Lukanic, AIA. "We found a like-minded firm to align our strategic goals with, advancing our design impact across the architectural industry."

Reflecting on the merger, Donald Grody, one of the founding partners at Bennett Wagner Grody Architects, noted the partnership allows his firm to transcend the notion of what a traditional architecture practice should be. "There are many design firms that do good architecture in Colorado," he said. "But this merger allows us to do more – to harness new services and expertise to help our clients leverage the built environment to improve performance and create stronger futures. It gives us a very distinct perspective in the industry."
